Amica dishes up a first

POLISH brand Amica has launched its first dishwasher in the UK and hints that there may be more to follow.

The fully-integrated, triple A-rated 600mm ZIM627 offers 12 place settings and seven wash programmes with four temperature options, including a 3-in-1 wash for best results from multi-component tablets.

LED indicators and soft-touch electronic buttons for easy control are also listed, along with a noise level of 49dB – said to be well below the level of normal conversation.

It is covered by Amica's full two-year parts-and-labour guarantee, is said to consume around 16 litres of water per load and performs its shortest wash in 30 minutes.

"Both we and our distributors are extremely excited about getting Amica dishwashers out into the market," said Amica's UK country manager Simon Freear.

"Amica dishwashers are highly functional and care for the environment – all with an A energy-efficiency rating. They are a popular choice in many countries around the world and we expect them to become so here in the UK, too, as availability increases and user recommendation is established."
